Spartans, Gaels In League Tilt

Game Tonight Marks Last NCIC Contest For Hubbard's Quintet

Scoring Duel Expected By Rockwell And Thomas

James Underhill's first place NCIC Galloping Gaels, 15 to the squad, saunter into Spartan pavilion tonight to see for themselves if Coach Bill Hubbard's quintet has improved any since their last meeting.

Tied with Santa Clara for the blue ribbon of the newest Pacific Coast basketball league, St. Mary's was saved in the initial encounter with Sparta's squad in Kezar pavilion only by the sensational whirlwind play of "Rocket" Rockwell, a boy likened to the great Luisetti in everything but press agents.

WATCH ROCKWELL

Rockwell, responsible for 22 points against San Jose State, will be the man to watch tonight. Together with Larry Minahan, a free-shooting rangy guard, and "Swede" Anderson, Coach Underhill has built his team about the only three first-string veterans on

Frosh Dance Set For Friday Night

SCHOOL DAYS

Although other classes will be dancing with mummies, sphinxes, and pyramids at the Artists Ball Friday night, the freshman class members will have a night to themselves.

Carrying out the theme "School Days", freshmen will don school clothes and dance to the music of the Stanford Cavaliers in the women's gym Friday.

A date bureau has been established by Wayne La Rue, and students may make dates in Dean Goddard's office tomorrow at 12:30.

Approximately fifty bids are left for the dance and may be purchased in the Controller's office for fifty cents.

Although the dance is open to freshmen only, sophomores and upper classmen may attend if accompanied by freshmen.

Chas. Leong To Talk Before Open Forum Tomorrow At Noon

Discussing problems facing the Chinese youth on the American campus, Charles Leong will speak before the Y.M.C.A. weekly Open Forum held at noon in Room 1 of the Home Economics building tomorrow.

According to Leong, an editor of the Daily, he will talk for some time on the subject, and then endeavor to answer questions.

Following this same line of thought, the forum will next week bring a Japanese student before the assembly to relate problems which are facing those people on the camp.

Student Council Plans Open House For Business Men

In an effort by the student council to build closer friendship between the college and business men of San Jose, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce have been invited and will attend in a body as honored guests the basketball game tonight in Spartan pavilion between San Jose State and St. Mary's.

Future plans in this direction include an open house for all the downtown service organizations. This gathering will be conducted by each and every department in the college.

For some time the student council has sought means to secure a closer and better understanding between the business men and the school. The open house and invitation to the game tonight are definite steps toward that purpose.

Psych Experiment Movies Thursday

Motion pictures of interesting experiments made in psychology laboratories at various universities throughout the country will be shown tomorrow night at the weekly Thursday night session of the class in Modern Problems of Psychology.

Speaker during the two-hour session of the class, which meets at seven in Room 110, will be Dr. Brant Clark of the Psychology department, who will explain the experiments shown in the moving pictures, which are the property of the college psychology department.

Included in the pictures are scenes of a white rat and maze experiment, a dog without a brain, and a feeble-minded child in comparison with a normal child.

The class is open to all students and faculty interested in psychological problems.

Five Pledged To Delta Phi Upsilon Thursday

Five girls were formally pledged into Delta Phi Upsilon, a national kindergarten organization, Thursday in the home of Miss Mabel Crumby, faculty advisor of the society.

Pledging service was conducted by Barbara Franklin, president of the society. Each girl was given a corsage of red roses to wear for 48 hours.

Pledges are Jean Argo, Lucile Conolley, Betty Anne Field, Margaret Latimore, and Eileteth McQuilkin.

Richard Crooks

Students Given Special Rates For Concert

Richard Crooks, leading American tenor, will sing at the San Jose Civic auditorium tonight at 8:15.

Crooks will be accompanied by the well-known composer-pianist, Frank La Forge. Compositions and arrangements have been sung by great American artists.

All San Jose State college students who wish to attend the Richard Crooks concert may have student seats in any location of the auditorium at the regular student price, 75 cents.

Any students who have already purchased their seats and wish to change them for another location may do so by applying at the auditorium box office.

Frosh Will Nominate Officers Tomorrow, 11

Class officers of the freshman class will be nominated at the regular orientation meeting Thursday at 11.

According to Dean Goddard, any student is eligible to run for class offices, as nominations are not restricted to members of the council groups.

Nominations for president, vice-president, and secretary will be made.

Pastor Of Mexican Church Talks Today

The Reverend Galindo, pastor of the Mexican Baptist Church in San Jose, will conduct the devotional services during the Chapel Quarter Hour today in the Little Theater at noon.

Hymns will be played on a mandolin and a guitar after Reverend Galindo talks about the work of the Mexican church.

Masquerade Ball Bids On Sale In Quad Booth

Prize Given For Most Interesting, Original Costume; Joe Rapose, Floor Show, Mysterious Punch Featured

Bids for the Artists' Masquerade Ball, to be held Friday, February 19, in the Gold Room of the St. Claire Hotel, are now being sold from a booth in the quad, and will also be sold at the door of the hotel the night of the dance. They can be purchased for one dollar, and are fast disappearing, according to Beth Jarvis, who is in charge of the sales.

The dance will begin at nine and continue until one. The grand march and unmasking will occur at eleven, when the costumes will be judged and a prize of at least five dollars will be given to the person wearing the most interesting and original outfit.

At this time the mysterious, "Lotus Blossom of the Nile" will be served. According to reports, this beverage is what Cleopatra drank to make herself alluring, but the Art department declines to be responsible for what it might do to modern damsels.

A girl, who prefers for the present to remain anonymous, will begin the floor show at 10:30 with an Egyptian dance in authentic costume. "The Five Mummies" will also perform, and Joe Rapose will sing. John Knight

Sports Parade To Fete Ace Athletes

Jack Gruber, John Knight To Emcee Rally Program

With the emceeing of Jack Gruber, Spartan Knight's prexy, and John Knight, 6-4 president, the rally committee's sports parade on the night of February 23 will be one of the climaxing events of the winter sports season.

Presenting stars from all the current sports, including basketball, tennis, ping pong, baseball, wrestling, boxing, and swimming, the program will be unique in its rapid honoring of the players.

Orchestra selections and a balanced program are scheduled for the show. Several skits will be offered by the rally committee for this "different" program.

"It's the biggest thing we've ever attempted," says Bob Free, chairman, "It's so stupendous that I can't believe it is possible, but don't get me wrong, it's not only possible, but it's a fact."

The sports parade will start at 7:30 p.m. in conjunction with a rally for the team, any team, according to Free.

Dr. Wood Obliges NO BLUE CARDS Slighted Student

Dr. James C. Wood this week received two of the most unusual requests in his teaching career. Both came from students in his World Literature class.

One student stated that never in his entire college career had he received a blue card, (what a man!) and asked that Dr. Wood send him one. Apparently, Dr. Wood said, he wanted to prove later in life that he really had been to college.

The second remarkable request came from a co-ed who asked if she "could sit in the seat in front of myself". Dr. Wood assured her of his permission if she was able to manage it. Well, perhaps she's a contortionist.

S.K.D. Pledges Notice

According to Louis Walther, chairman of the initiation committee of Sigma Kappa Delta, journalism honorary fraternity, all pledges of the organization are to meet 7 p.m. at the Little Theater Friday.

Players Tryouts Thursday, Friday

Tryouts for membership to San Jose Players will be held tomorrow and Friday from four to six in the Little Theater. Those who sign for appointments on the bulletin boards near Room 165 are to appear both days.

Tomorrow will be occupied as the tryouts give two-minute dramatic selections of their own choice while on Friday a specific selection, mimeographed copies of which may be obtained in Room 49, must be presented.

Written tryouts may be taken by appointment on the same days by those desiring to take part in the technical side of play producing. Students must pass in two of the following fields: directing, lighting, construction, makeup, and playwriting.

Bibliophiles To Give Book Chat Tea For Students Thursday

A Book Chat Tea to which all students of library classes, and those interested in reading are invited, will be given by the Bibliophiles Thursday afternoon from four to five in Room 120.

Book reviews will be given by Ethel Fillmore, Frances Gonzales, and Eugenia Ironsides, Bibliophile members. Miss Helen Stalford of the library staff will discuss Arnold Genthe, world famous photographer's autobiography "As I Remember".

Mrs. Dorothy Kellenberg and Edith Jett are in charge of arrangements.

DEMI-TASSE

By CHARLES LEONG

When worse comes to worse, we make use of verse. Now, one or more of the other columnists (we won't mention names) might have said, "when verse comes to verse"—but we don't stoop that low. However, it would be perfectly reasonable, plausible, if we did, especially in these tough times of mid-terms, the first signs of spring, etc., to bid for our valuable time.

But this column of verses, reprinted from our previous columns of years ago, is the culminating results of several bull-sessions concerning the new trend in education. Especially higher education, away from the old academic standards of liberal arts, doctor, lawyer, engineer, and other old-line curricula.

Take this college, or any other school. Practically everything, from police school methods to puppetry, is taught. Out of a group of 150 girls in the Home Economics department, there are two men enrolled.

Hence this little bit.

LETTER HOME

Dear Mother,
A real modern college
Must teach only knowledge
Of up-to-date, practical kinds.
The classical racket
Is apt to strait-jacket
Original, flexible minds.
These antique statistics,
And facts, and linguistics,
Are DEAD, and their study must STOP;

Then maybe my "baby"
Can finish his A.B.,
Becoming a college-bred cop.
At present I'm taking
Book-binding and baking,
And making and mending a toy.
And two new Ed. courses
In shunning divorcees
And yes-ing the Boss and the Boy.
—Grace.

And two fair damsels, the other day, who apparently seemed to be fans (ha, ha, Wallace & Bailey) suggested that we mention something of the hard-working but nice lads who have no time for social life.

We present this tribute:

THE MARTYR

I got a purpose which is high.
I shuns the flowing bowl.
I hits my books while youse guys dance.
I'm pure, I got a soul.
I got a noble duty here.
I got a urge to know.
I got ambition, and besides,
Cheez guy, I got no dough.

And so, you see, we too have a purpose in presenting this trio of verse. What? . . . only two? Well, here's the third, and one which is the result of another bull-sessionish pondering on the philosophy of "what is it all about?"
ODE TO HIGHER EDUCATION
I've always sung the praises
Of M.A.'s and Ph. D's.
But in pursuit of knowledge . .
We are starving—by degrees.

Will the person who, I believe, took my binder and books by mistake from the umbrella stand near the entrance to the library stock-room please return it to the Lost and Found. Very anxious to have it, for a test is coming my way.

There will be a short meeting of Delta Theta Omega at seven p.m. at 41 South Eighth street.

BEHIND THE NEWS

By MAXINE WALTHER

"We are in for the battle of the century if labor is successful in unionizing in the general motor industry," Dr. William Poytress declared in his "Behind the News" class yesterday when he lectured on the significance of the General Motors strike.

If the strikers succeed in unionizing, the natural thing is a spread of unions to all motor industry and then to steel and coal, he said.

Whether we have a labor party in 1940 depends on the success or failure of the present strike, he declared.

BARGAINING

The nub of the strike was whether or not there shall be collective bargaining by a recognized union, Dr. Poytress said. Commenting that the question had been raised repeatedly by the newspapers as to why a strike was called when wages appeared to be satisfactory.

Dr. Poytress said that workers were seeking the abolition of piece work and a change in the speed-up policy, and that they were also desirous of getting a 30-hour week and a 6-hour day with a minimum wage compatible with the American standard of living. Labor wants to bring this about through the agency of collective bargaining, he said.

Cutting the profits of the motor manufacturers is the method by which labor seeks to raise the standard of living, instead of by raising prices and stepping up production.

INVESTIGATION

In this connection, a government investigation has been started. It has been found that General Motors spent approximately $175,000 for the services of the Pinkerton Detective Agency. It has been charged that union organizers have been apprehended in this way and "fixed" for their activities.

As to why the strike ended, Dr. Poytress intimated that government pressure must have been used. The final settlement, a compromise, is said to be a plan put forward by Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor. Some newspapers credited the plan to President Roosevelt, Dr. Poytress said.

PERMISSION

The crux of the compromise is that the union shall have collective bargaining except when motor officials have received permission from the government to act otherwise.

The "sit down strike", originating in this country in the General Motor plant is supposed to have come from France where they have the "fold your arms strikes".

TURNING THE PAGES

By BEN JOHNSON

Why was the name SPARTANS selected as the symbol for San Jose State college? Who selected it, and how?

Twelve years ago last month, Wednesday, January 17, 1925, the student body of the school cast its ballot for a school name. SPARTANS were victorious.

The athletic teams had gotten tired of being dubbed "teachers" by the local press, and so a movement was started to give San Jose a symbol to look upon.

The contest was thrown open to anyone in the school to submit as many names as he wanted. Of all the contestants, five finalists were chosen by the committee. Golds, SPARTANS, Mustangs, Hawks, and Badgers were allotted places on the ballot.

After the tabulation had been completed, it was found that the SPARTANS had triumphed over Golds by the narrow margin of 10 votes.

Soon after the selection, Mardel Sweeney, sister of William G. Sweeney, present faculty member, wrote the first school song dedicated to the Spartan. "Hail to the Spartans" was sung to the tune of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here".

The first San Jose athletic team to compete under the helmet of Sparta was the basketball five. The varsity journeyed to Harmon gymnasium in Berkeley to play the University of California freshman five.

After a poor start, the captain gathered his San Jose team around him and reminded each member that SPARTANS stood for "superior training" as was demonstrated in early days by the Greek Spartans. San Jose won that game 29 to 27 to start the Spartan out on his long trail of victories.

Hail, Spartans, Hail!

ART BALL

Tut, Tut! Costumes At Egyptian Art Masque Ball Are Balled-Up

You don't have to be an artist to go to the Artists' Masquerade Ball. Even if you never drew a straight line in your life you are invited to come; most of the Art students can't draw a straight line either.

You must come in a costume, but it need not be elaborate. Just so it's different from your ordinary street clothes. In fact, report has it that some of the costumes will be quite simple—even scanty, one might say. But of course, you never would see an Egyptian princess or slave dancer dressed up like an eskimo.

HIP, HIP, HOORAY!

Then again, you never would see a hula dancer doing her hip-swinging under the palms of Egypt, but there will be some grass-skirted damsels at this party.

And also you'll see a person disguised as a pyramid (don't ask us how), and, naturally, an archeologist. If these two get together, anything might happen, and probably will. There will be, of course, some devils, and a boy scout and girl scout. There might be some moral conflict between these individuals. One never knows.

Someone is going to come as an Englishman, and King Tut will be present. The river Nile has not been invited, but the Sphinx will make an appearance. The party will be

PRESS BOX PARADE

By JAMES MARLAIS

Tsk! tsk! tsk! D-r-e-a-m-land auditorium . . . a dreamy little bit it was when San Jose State piled into San Fran for the final tilt of fisticuffing with a prize crop of Northern California simon-pures. The swish of dynamite-laden fists—cheers—another Spartan victory . . . applause—all, despite a lengthy program, failed to dampen the ardour of the fans who watched a weary Spartan—his head up and shoulders back, slip on the Junior Pacific Association crown for the second successive year.

Five titles . . . 37 points and the team trophy came into the hands of the Gold and White team, that tomorrow nite—only three days after their first big sweep of the 1937 season, exchange blows with the green-clad University of San Francisco Dons. "Tiny" Cervelli—intercollegiate champ . . . Jimmy Mace—another crown bearer, who, in his spare time gleefully piles his titles, one upon another to watch them topple from the ceiling, are the aces of this stack of Dons that comprise, they tell us, one of the strongest college teams on the western slope.

"Spider" Roach, grand ol' coach of the scarlet-pantied Winged-Of-Rocks who until Monday nite, held the record for points scored . . . 21 . . . was in fine fettle as he watched Don Walker, Captain Bob Harris, Georgie Latka, Pete Bolich, and Dale Wren scoop up the titles. He was, indeed, a grand sportsman. It was "Spider" who, last fall, stumbled into Curley Grieve's office and straddling the desk—grinned at the sports ed. "How many champions are you giving me?" he asked, beaming. Curley held up one finger. "What!" he cried. Curley held up two fingers. After staring momentarily at the ed, he stuck both hands—fingers outstretched—before his face. "Ten," he grinned and he's still grinning because, naturally, being a San Franciscan, he never knew there was such a thing as San Jose State.

Whenever, we, as spectators . . . as ardent sports fans sitting on the edge of our seats, watching some hero heap honor and glory upon himself and the school, there is always that tingling sensation that makes us want to step in also, to startle the world. We must say, however, there was very little desire to crawl thru the ropes with Fada Booker, little bud of the two famous Earl and Eddie Bookers . . . John Apostoli, not quite so little of San Fran's fighting bell hop—Freddie Apostoli . . . Joe Gomes, whose vicious jabs from a pair of dynamite-laden fists was, surpassed by far, his murderous attitude.

"Come on 'n fight!" a challenge hurled in the finals at Captain Bob Harris by this negro battler, Joe Gomes, is undoubtedly, still ringing in his ears as he came out, his chest out, confident that he could finish the guy who was on par with Bill Moulden, whom he finished in the semis. Minutes later, after punishing Harris with both hands, he went down—a right to the stomach, to expire like a punctured balloon. It was knockout No. 2 for "scrapping Bob", who a short time before accepted the team trophy on behalf of the school . . . "It's a great pleasure." . . . he managed to say into the microphone.

Ending an evening of thrills was the final bout in the 179-pound division in which Herman Zetterquist, walking in for his third fite, stepped up and proceeded to whale Postek with both hands. Herm, hitting like an express train, traded smash for smash, filling his opponent with more holes than a punch board. Herm hit him . . . again . . . again . . . and after wavering like a concrete pillar, Postek let go with one to the button that sprawled Herm to the canvas. It was a tough break.

Again, in the final bout of the evening, Pete Bolich and Maury Schwartz, waded into each other for three rounds on one of those "you give it and I take it—home and loan affairs". Schwartz, a half-confident expression on his face, tottering back and forth . . . always in the right direction . . . right into Bolich, who patted him with all but . . . it was the fifth crown.

It was San Jose nite . . . Jackie Jurich, former amateur sensation, took a bow from the ring . . . Eddie Booker, a little later, did the same . . . "A San Francisco boy," boomed the announcer who was immediately drowned out by the Spartan rooters . . . Georgie Latka got the biggest hand of the evening when he boxed around tapping his semi-final opponent on the shoulder . . . the kid was nearly out but Georgie took him to the finish . . . Georgie is probably the swellest kid ever to appear in a San Francisco tournament . . . IMPRESSIONS: a youngster, an arm over the ropes, staring, glassy-eyed, into . . . what?

Baseball Team Plays Rivals In Second Tilt

Staters Hold Slight Edge Over Mission Nine; Watson To Pitch

By JIM CRANFORD

Coach Gil Bishop and his Spartan horsehiders clash with the University of Santa Clara Broncos this afternoon at four o'clock on Ryan field, in the second tilt of a three-game series.

With one victory already tucked away over the Broncos, the Spartan baseballers will have a slight edge in this afternoon's affair. However, Coach Fitzgerald and his clubmen will be out for a bit of revenge and Bishop and the boys are expecting a tough battle.

BRONC CHUCKER

Reports from the Jesuit campus state that Kingsley Selenger, lanky six-footer, will start for the Broncos against the Spartans this afternoon. The "stringy" twirler started against Bishop's clubmen in the first tilt, but had a little trouble in the fourth frame and had to be removed from the box. However, Selenger is reported in the best of condition and will be out to set down Bishop's stickmen.

For the Spartans, Captain Burt Watson will probably get first call for mound duties, with an equal chance of Art Carpenter and Marvin Olsen to relieve him. Watson was credited with the victory over Santa Clara in the first contest.

CATCHING DUTIES

Jack Riordan, Salinas J. C. transfer and number one backstopper for Bishop, is slated to take care of catching duties while in the infield, "Pinky" Garcia will hold down first base, with Main, Luque, and L. Carpenter taking care of second, third, and short respectively.

Fly-catchers to start for Bishop this afternoon, will probably be picked from Smith, Rose, Haney, and Martinez.

Friday the Spartans meet an aggregation of rookies from the Mission Red pro club from San Francisco on Graham field here in San Jose. The game will be a double-header affair and the first tilt will start at one o'clock.

Walt McPherson and Bill Crawford will also see a great deal of action, according to Hubbard.

The game tomorrow will be preceded by a freshman preliminary, starting at 6 o'clock.

Walker Meets Intercollegiate Champ In Feature Bout

Spartan-Bronc Grid Game Date Set

San Jose State college will meet the University of Santa Clara on the Spartan Stadium gridiron Saturday, November 6.

This was the announcement made by Head Coach Dudley S. DeGroot following many week's of negotiations between two intercity rivals. The November 6 date was a complete surprise as it had been thought that the two schools would meet on October 16 as they both had open dates.

HUMBOLDT GAME

Santa Clara, however, has an option on the use of Kezar stadium for either October 16 or 17 and is dickering for an inter-sectional opponent.

The present Spartan schedule calls for a game with Humboldt State on November 6, but Coach DeGroot stated that no contracts have been signed and another place on the schedule will be arranged for the Eureka team.

NIGHT GAME

There is a possibility that the Bronco contest will be played on the evening of Friday, November 5, if the weather is of football atmosphere, as lights are to be installed in the Spartan Stadium in a short time.

With the signing of the Mission City game on November 5 the October 16 date is still open and it is possible that Willamette University of Salem, Oregon will be invited to play the Spartans on that date.

State Expected To Use Many Combinations

Anderson was stopped last year in Spartan gym only by the water which leaked through the roof and sent the blonde guard out of the game with a clipped elbow. Minahan was stopped by the consistent guarding of Captain Larry Arnerich. And Rockwell wasn't stopped.

Coach Hubbard's boys, fourth place in league tally, may be supported by many believing they will place or show, but very few are playing them to win, "on the nose".

HUBBARD HOPEFUL

Coach Hubbard, however, believes his team has better than an even chance to win.

"We've got a fine basketball team which might do anything," he said last night.

"I expect to start one or two combinations tomorrow. With either Lloyd Thomas at center, DeSelle and Ivor at forwards, and Johnson and Carroll at guards, we'll have height under both buckets."

Hubbard's move is to undoubtedly stem the pay of the "Rocket", a boy who plays under the bucket spuriously and with abandon.

GROSKOPF STEPS IN

Planning to play Irv Groskopf at the center spot during the game, Hubbard believes that the rest given Ivor Thomas may produce results. Groskopf, a tremendously improved player over his clumsy freshman days, has naturally seen little action because of the all around ability of Thomas, who thus far is leading scorer in the league.

Junior Class To Meet Tomorrow

Decision On Expenditure Of $100 To Be Made

Meeting tomorrow at 11 in Room 24, the junior class hopes to come to a decision as to the way the $100 profit made on the Junior Prom should be spent.

After weeks of argument the class finds itself in the present situation: A dinner-dance is objected to by many because bids to such an affair would cost $1.50 to each couple in addition to the amount on hand. Another argument is whether the affair should be formal or informal.

Alternatives suggested are a barbecue and a roller-skating or ice-skating party to be closed to all except juniors. Reports on these plans will be made at the meeting by Bob Watson and Norman Berg.

All juniors who can attend at this time are asked to do so as it is important that the wishes of the majority of the class members should determine the use of the money.

Final plans for the Junior-Senior Mixer will also be presented at this time by John Holtorf. The Mixer is to be held at the Newman club February 24, and will be closed to students of the lower classes.

G-E Honor Group Announces Social

Members of Pi Epsilon Tau, general elementary honor society, formulating plans for their quarterly dinner and social get-together, have announced that the guest speaker for the occasion will be Miss Anne Fraser, principal of the Woodrow Wilson Junior High in Oakland.

Miss Fraser is hailed as a highly entertaining and gifted speaker by Miss Toles, general elementary supervisor and faculty head of the honor organization. The Oakland educator is well known here having addressed many campus organizations at San Jose State college in the past.

To be a formal affair, the dinner will be held in the Gold Room of the St. Claire Hotel, February 25 at 6:15 p.m.

Tickets selling for 77 cents, including the tax, may be purchased from Miss Muriel Clark in the Education office.

Leong Sends Love FAILS THE DAILY Messages To China

By MYER ZIEGLER

Charlie Leong, one of the Daily's usually reliable newshawks, has been shirking.

He covers the college amateur shortwave station, W6YL, for the Daily. And for some time he has been exchanging amorous messages with a Miss in far-away Shanghai by means of the college transmitter, all of which is certainly news.

But Leong did not come in with the story of his long distance courtship as any loyal Daily reporter would have done.

So, yesterday said an irate news editor, "we have waited Leong enough," and sent another reporter over to the W6YL shack behind the co-op to get the details.

Little Theater Crowded As Rapose, Green Headline All-Campus Sing Tuesday Morning

With the Little Theater crowded to the doors, the largest Campus Sing to be held at San Jose State college yesterday greeted the return of Joe Rapose as a campus entertainer following his selection as winner of the California's Hour.

Rapose sang a medley of songs which were enthusiastically received. He then sang "Good Night My Love".

Also headlining the sing program was the piano playing of Jack Green. Due to popular request, Green repeated the "Bolero" which proved so popular at the Spartan Review. He also played "La Bomba" and "Cafe Continental".

The first part of the program included group singing of many popular numbers. "When My Dream Boat Comes Home" proved to be one of the most popular songs.

Miss Berta Gray led the singing and Ella Van Beek was general chairman of the sing. The Kappa Phi club sponsored the affair.

NORTHERN BOUND SOPHS SEEKING ICE FOR DANCE

Admiral Byrd has nothing on Harold Wise, sophomore dance chairman.

Wise has been exploring in the deepest and darkest regions of the ice plants of San Jose to find suitable decorations for the Anarctic Cruise, February 27 in the Scottish Rite Temple.

Decorations will resemble huge icicles about the room, which will be lit with Aurora Borealis lights. Cruising around the floor, dancers will discover hidden cakes of ice, to be used after dancing to some of Lenny Rapose's swing music.

Scoring a success at the Junior Prom, Rapose will play at the sophomore dance.

Bids are cleverly designed airplane tickets, the exact replica of those used by the Pan-American Airlines for their southern cruises. They may be obtained from any member of the sophomore class and at the Controller's office.

Nursing Club Visits California Hospital On Inspection Tour

The college Pre-nursing club visited the University of California Hospital in San Francisco Saturday at which time it was shown through the different departments of the institution by three former San Jose students.

After the tour of inspection the girls were entertained at lunch in the hospital cafeteria and were then shown through the nurses' home.

The girls were advised to make use of the education courses taught at State, as it was pointed out the nurse of today must also be a teacher.

Any girls desiring to enter the California hospital in August are urged to send in for an application immediately.

Tau Mu Delta Holds Meet, Valentine Party At Otterstein Home

With St. Valentine's Day as the theme and "Two Hearts in Waltz Time" as the chief motif of their party, members of Tau Mu Delta and their guests met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Otterstein last Friday evening.

Under the supervision of Ruby Anderson and Elinor Davis, unique and novel ideas in decoration, entertainment, and refreshments were carried out. Favors were made up of miniature dolls dressed and placed on a red heart. The figures were representative of the individuals to whom they were given. Aside from a Valentine box, dancing and games were diversions of the evening.

February 25th has been the date set for Tau Mu Delta's spring concert. The concert will be held in the Little Theater, and it is free to the public.

Military Training Course Will Be Added To Police Curriculum In Fall

Home Economics Club To Give Closed Semi-Formal Hop Saturday

A closed semi-formal dance will be given by the Home Economics club Saturday night in Room 1 of the Art building.

Choosing "Tropical Night" as the theme of the dance, the room will be decorated with stars, a moon, palm trees, and leis.

Hawaiian punch and cocoanut cookies, made by the Home Economics club, will be served.

Music for the dance will be furnished by Bill Thurlow's orchestra.

Grace Terry, general chairman of the dance, is being assisted by Wilma Gothberg, Esther Hulin, Mary Jane Wolfe, and Florence Noll.

Members of the Home Economics club who have not yet purchased bids for the dance may get them from any member of the dance committee.

Proposed Class Supervised By National Guard; Offers One Unit

A course in military training will be added to the police school curriculum this fall, announced William A. Wiltberger, director of the San Jose State college police school.

The course will be elective and one unit will be given for the work. It is being organized under the supervision of the National Guard here in San Jose.

Students who take the course will get training in communication and intelligence. The latter will link definitely with the work given at present in detecting methods.

Rifle and pistol practice will be a part of the new course, which is to be given once a week at the Armory in San Jose.

"A course in military training should be a part of all police school work," stated Mr. Wiltberger, "this course will take the place of the Reserve Officers' Training Corp in other schools."
